- \(TH\) is the total hours worked by the employee during the relevant period.

the relevant period is:

(a) for an employee who was continuously employed by the employer for a period of 12 months or more immediately before the base rate of pay is to be worked out—the 12 months before the rate is to be worked out; or

2.13 High Income threshold

(1) For subsection 333(1) of the Act, this regulation sets out the manner in which the high income threshold is to be worked out.

(2) The high income threshold for the period starting on 1 July 2009 and ending at the end of 30 June 2010 is worked out using the following steps.

First indexation

Step 1 Identify the assessment of current average weekly ordinary time earnings published by the Australian Statistician for February 2008 and in effect on 1 July 2008.

Note: This is the amount of the average weekly ordinary time earnings, seasonally adjusted, for full-time adult employees of all employees in Australia for that day.

Step 2 Divide it by the assessment of current average weekly ordinary time earnings published by the Australian Statistician for May 2007 and in effect on 27 August 2007.

Note: This is the amount of the average weekly ordinary time earnings, seasonally adjusted, for full-time adult employees of all employees in Australia for that day.

Step 3 Round the result to 3 decimal places. If the fourth decimal place is 5 or above, round it up.

If the rounded result is less than 1, the rounded result becomes 1.

Multiply $100 000 by the rounded result.

If the result is not a multiple of $100, round the result to the nearest multiple of $100. If the result is a multiple of $50, round it up to the next multiple of $100.

This result will be indexed again in step 6.

Second indexation

Step 4 Identify the assessment of current average weekly ordinary time earnings published by the Australian Statistician for February 2009 and in effect on 1 July 2009.

Note: This is the amount of the average weekly ordinary time earnings, seasonally adjusted, for full-time adult employees of all employees in Australia for that day.
Step 5  Divide it by the assessment of current average weekly ordinary time earnings published by the Australian Statistician for February 2008 and in effect on 1 July 2008.

Note:  This is the amount of the average weekly ordinary time earnings, seasonally adjusted, for full-time adult employees of all employees in Australia for that day.

Step 6  Round the result to 3 decimal places. If the fourth decimal place is 5 or above, round it up.
If the rounded result is less than 1, the rounded result becomes 1.
Multiply the amount worked out in step 3 by the rounded result.
If the result is not a multiple of $100, round the result to the nearest multiple of $100. If the result is a multiple of $50, round it up to the next multiple of $100.
The result is the high income threshold for the period starting on 1 July 2009 and ending at the end of 30 June 2010.

(3) The high income threshold for the year starting on 1 July 2010, or a later year starting on 1 July, is the threshold for the previous year, indexed using the following steps.

Step 1  Identify the assessment of current average weekly ordinary time earnings published by the Australian Statistician and in effect on 1 July in the current year.

Note:  This is the amount of the average weekly ordinary time earnings, seasonally adjusted, for full-time adult employees of all employees in Australia for that day.

Step 2  Divide it by the assessment of current average weekly ordinary time earnings published by the Australian Statistician and in effect on 1 July of the previous year.

Note:  This is the amount of the average weekly ordinary time earnings, seasonally adjusted, for full-time adult employees of all employees in Australia for that day.

Step 3  Round the result to 3 decimal places. If the fourth decimal place is 5 or above, round it up.
If the rounded result is less than 1, the rounded result becomes 1.
Multiply the high income threshold for the previous year by the rounded result.
If the result is not a multiple of $100, round the result to the nearest multiple of $100. If the result is a multiple of $50, round it up to the next multiple of $100.
The result is the high income threshold for the year starting on 1 July.

Division 2—Protection from unfair dismissal

3.05 When a person is protected from unfair dismissal—high income threshold

(1) For subparagraph 382(b)(iii) of the Act, this regulation explains how to work out amounts for the purpose of assessing whether the high income threshold applies in relation to the dismissal of a person at a particular time.

Note: Under section 382 of the Act, a person is protected from unfair dismissal if specified circumstances apply. One of the circumstances is that the sum of the person’s annual rate of earnings, and such other amounts (if any) worked out in relation to the person in accordance with the regulations, is less than the high income threshold.

Piece rates

(2) Subregulations (3), (4) and (5) apply if part or all of the person’s income at the time of the dismissal is paid as piece rates that are:

(a) set by reference to a quantifiable output or task; and

(b) not paid as a rate set by reference to a period of time worked.

(3) If the person was continuously employed by the employer and was not on leave without full pay at any time during the period of 12 months immediately before the dismissal, the total amount of piece rates paid or payable to the person in respect of the period of 12 months ending immediately before the dismissal is an amount for subparagraph 382(b)(iii) of the Act.

(4) If the person was continuously employed by the employer and was on leave without full pay at any time during the period of 12 months immediately before the dismissal, the total of:

(a) for the days during that period that the employee was not on leave without full pay—the actual piece rates received by the employee; and
(b) for the days that the employee was on leave without full pay—an amount worked out using the formula:

\text{Piece rates mentioned in paragraph (a)} \times \frac{\text{Days on leave without full pay}}{\text{Days not on leave without full pay}}

is an amount for subparagraph 382(b)(iii) of the Act.

(5) If the person was continuously employed by the employer for a period of less than 12 months immediately before the dismissal, the total amount of piece rates worked out using the formula:

\text{Piece rates} \times \frac{365}{\text{Days employed}}

is an amount for subparagraph 382(b)(iii) of the Act.

Benefits other than payment of money

(6) If:

(a) the person is entitled to receive, or has received, a benefit in accordance with an agreement between the person and the person’s employer; and

(b) the benefit is not an entitlement to a payment of money and is not a non-monetary benefit within the meaning of subsection 332(3) of the Act; and

(c) the FWC is satisfied, having regard to the circumstances, that:

(i) it should consider the benefit for the purpose of assessing whether the high income threshold applies to a person at the time of the dismissal; and

(ii) a reasonable money value of the benefit has not been agreed by the person and the employer; and

(iii) the FWC can estimate a real or notional money value of the benefit;

the real or notional money value of the benefit estimated by the FWC is an amount for subparagraph 382(b)(iii) of the Act.

6.02 Modification of meaning of base rate of pay for pieceworkers (non-national system employees)

(1) For section 16 of the Act, as modified by section 749 of the Act, this regulation provides for the determination of the base rate of pay for the purposes of the extended parental leave provisions for a non-national system employee who is a pieceworker.

Note 1: Section 749 of the Act modifies section 16 of the Act by giving it effect as if a paragraph 16(2)(d) were added.

Note 2: The Act defines pieceworker in section 21. The effect of section 21 is modified for a non-national system employees by section 754 of the Act.

(2) The base rate of pay, expressed as an hourly rate of pay, is the rate provided in, or calculated in accordance with, a State industrial instrument that applies to the employee.

(3) If there is no rate provided in, or calculated in accordance with, a State industrial instrument that applies to the employee, the base rate of pay, expressed as an hourly rate of pay, is worked out using the formula:

\frac{TA}{TH}

where:

- \(TA\) is the total amount earned by the employee during the relevant period.
- \(TH\) is the total hours worked by the employee during the relevant period.
the relevant period is:
(a) for an employee who was continuously employed by the employer for a period of 12 months or more immediately before the base rate of pay is to be worked out—the 12 months before the rate is to be worked out; or
(b) for an employee who was continuously employed by the employer for a period less than 12 months immediately before the base rate of pay is to be worked out—that period.

6.03 Meaning of pieceworker

(1) For section 21 of the Act, as modified by section 754 of the Act, this regulation prescribes a class of non-national system employees as pieceworkers.

Note: Section 754 of the Act modifies section 21 by giving it effect as if a paragraph 21(1)(d) were added.

Under the new paragraph 21(1)(d), a pieceworker is a non-national system employee who is in a class of employees prescribed by the regulations as pieceworkers.

(2) The class is non-national system employees who:
(a) are paid a rate set by reference to a quantifiable output or task; and
(b) are not paid a rate set by reference to a period of time worked.

Examples of rates set by reference to a quantifiable output or task
1 A rate of pay calculated by reference to the number of articles produced.
2 A rate of pay calculated by reference to the number of kilometres travelled.
3 A rate of pay calculated by reference to the number of articles delivered.
4 A rate of pay calculated by reference to the number of articles sold.
5 A rate of pay calculated by reference to the number of tasks performed.

(b) on application to FWA by a transferring employee, or a person who is likely to be a transferring employee; or
(c) on application to FWA by the new employer, or a person who is likely to be the new employer; or

Note: Under section 772 of the Act, an employer must not terminate an employee’s employment because the employee is temporarily absent from work because of illness or injury of a kind prescribed by the regulations.

Note: The Act defines medical certificate in section 12.

(3) A prescribed kind of illness or injury exists if the employee:

where:
index number, for a quarter, means the All Groups Consumer Price Index Number (being the weighted average of the 8 capital cities) published by the Australian Statistician for that quarter.

(6) A calculation under subregulation (4):
(a) is to be made using the index numbers published in terms of the most recently published reference base for the Consumer Price Index; and
(b) is to be made disregarding index numbers that are published in substitution for previously published index numbers (unless the substituted numbers are published to take account of changes in the reference base).

No fee—hardship

(7) If the FWC is satisfied that the person making an application will suffer serious hardship if the person is required to pay the fee, no fee is payable for making the application.

Refund of fee—discontinuing application

(8) The FWC must repay to the person an amount equal to the fee if:
(a) the fee has been paid; and
(b) the application is subsequently discontinued as mentioned in section 588 of the Act; and
(c) either:
Regulation 6.06

(i) at the time the application is discontinued, the application has not yet been listed for conducting a conference; or

Fee at commencement of this regulation

(2) If an application is made on or after 1 January 2014 but before 1 July 2014, the fee is $65.50.

Method for indexing the fee

(3) If an application is made in a financial year starting on or after 1 July 2014 (the application year), the amount of the fee is to be worked out as follows:
   (a) identify the amount of the fee for an application made in the later of:
      (i) the year commencing on 1 January 2014; and
      (ii) the previous financial year;
   (b) multiply it by the indexation factor for the application year (see subregulation (4));
   (c) round the result to the nearest multiple of 10 cents, rounding up if the result ends in 5 cents.

(4) The indexation factor for the application year is worked out using the following formula, and then rounded under subregulation (5):
   \frac{\text{Sum of index numbers for quarters in most recent March year}}{\text{Sum of index numbers for quarters in previous March year}}
   where:
 Regulation 6.07A

index number, for a quarter, means the All Groups Consumer Price Index Number (being the weighted average of the 8 capital cities) published by the Australian Statistician for that quarter.

(6) A calculation under subregulation (4):
   (a) is to be made using the index numbers published in terms of the most recently published index reference for the Consumer Price Index; and
   (b) is to be made disregarding index numbers that are published in substitution for previously published index numbers (unless the substituted numbers are published to take account of changes in the index reference).

No fee—hardship

(7) If the FWC is satisfied that the person making an application will suffer serious hardship if the person is required to pay the fee, no fee is payable for making the application.

Refund of fee—discontinuing application

(8) The FWC must repay to the person an amount equal to the fee if:
   (a) the fee has been paid; and
   (b) the application is subsequently discontinued as mentioned in section 588 of the Act; and

Schedule 2.1 Notice of employee representational rights

(regulation 2.05)

Fair Work Act 2009, subsection 174(6)

[Name of employer] gives notice that it is bargaining in relation to an enterprise agreement ([name of the proposed enterprise agreement]) which is proposed to cover employees that [proposed coverage].

What is an enterprise agreement?

An enterprise agreement is an agreement between an employer and its employees that will be covered by the agreement that sets the wages and conditions of those employees for a period of up to 4 years. To come into operation, the agreement must be supported by a majority of the employees who cast a vote to approve the agreement and it must be approved by an independent authority, Fair Work Commission.

If you are an employee who would be covered by the proposed agreement:

You have the right to appoint a bargaining representative to represent you in bargaining for the agreement or in a matter before Fair Work Commission about bargaining for the agreement.

You can do this by notifying the person in writing that you appoint that person as your bargaining representative. You can also appoint yourself as a bargaining representative. In either case you must give a copy of the appointment to your employer.

[If the agreement is not an agreement for which a low-paid authorisation applies—include:]

If you are a member of a union that is entitled to represent your industrial interests in relation to the work to be performed under the agreement, your union will be your bargaining representative for the agreement unless you appoint another person as your representative or you revoke the union’s status as your representative.

[If a low-paid authorisation applies to the agreement—include:]
Fair Work Commission has granted a low-paid bargaining authorisation in relation to this agreement. This means the union that applied for the authorisation will be your bargaining representative for the agreement unless you appoint another person as your representative, or you revoke the union’s status as your representative, or you are a member of another union that also applied for the authorisation.

If the employee is covered by an individual agreement-based transitional instrument—include:

If you are an employee covered by an individual agreement:

If you are currently covered by an Australian Workplace Agreement (AWA), individual transitional employment agreement (ITEA) or a preserved individual State agreement, you may appoint a bargaining representative for the enterprise agreement if:

• the nominal expiry date of your existing agreement has passed; or
• a conditional termination of your existing agreement has been made (this is an agreement made between you and your employer providing that if the enterprise agreement is approved, it will apply to you and your individual agreement will terminate).

Questions?

If you have any questions about this notice or about enterprise bargaining, please speak to either your employer, bargaining representative, go to www.fairwork.gov.au, or contact the Fair Work Commission Infoline on [insert number].
