Dear Associate,

Based on the assurances given by Business SA below, we do not object to their request to refer to the State in which the witnesses live or work and the proximity of the nearest blood donation centre in their submission in reply.

Kind Regards,

Subject: AM2016/36 - Redacting SDA witness information

Dear Associate

Business SA is finalising our submission in reply to the SDA's claim for blood and bone marrow leave and we have a query about information specific to a witness/witnesses.

In writing our response we will be addressing evidence put forward by the SDA's witnesses. These responses require a degree of reference to the nearest blood donation centre to the witness' place of residence or place of work. We note the SDA's submission published on the Commission's website has certain identifying information redacted. To be clear, in our submission in reply we have not specifically identified the witness, their place of residence or their place of work.

The only information we have provided which is specific to the witness is the state in which the witness lives and works, and the proximity of the nearest blood donation centre. We note that the material published on the Commission's website has redacted the state of residence but there are footnote references to nearby blood donation centres.

Can the Commission please advise whether Business SA can refer to the state of residence and provide footnote reference to nearby blood donation centres?

We have copied Mr Moretta into this email in case he would like to advise whether he is happy for Business SA to refer to the above-specified information.

Kind regards

Chris
