I, Krista Terese Limbrey of 21-29 Central Avenue, Thornleigh in the State of New South Wales, HR Business Partner NSW/ACT for McDonald's Australia Limited make the following statement:

1. I am employed by McDonald's Australia Limited (McDonald's) in the role of HR Business Partner NSW/ACT. I have held this role since 22 December 2014.
2. Prior to this role, I was employed by McDonald's in a number of roles, including National Training and HR Design Consultant, National Operations Consultant and Restaurant Manager of the Thornleigh restaurant. In total, I have been employed by McDonald's for over 12 years.
3. I make this statement based on my own knowledge, information and belief unless otherwise stated. Where I make statements based on information provided to me, I identify the source of that information and otherwise believe it to be true and correct.
4. McDonald's operates restaurants directly (through company-owned restaurants) and indirectly (through franchisees). Company-owned restaurants are often referred to as McOpCo restaurants. As at 19 May 2015 there were 943 McDonald's restaurants in operation in Australia. Of the 943 restaurants, 165 were McOpCo restaurants and 778 were operated by franchisees.
5. McOpCo and franchisee operated restaurants are spread across the country with the exception of the Northern Territory, Australian Capital Territory and Tasmania where all restaurants are operated by franchisees. As at 19 May 2015 of the 943 McDonald's restaurants, they were located as follows (broken down by McOpCo or franchisee):

State / Territory	Number of McOpCo Stores	Number of franchisee stores	Total
Queensland	33	192	225
New South Wales	78	218	296
Australian Capital Territory	0	19	19
Victoria	29	220	249
South Australia	6	46	52
Western Australia	19	60	79
Tasmania	0	17	17
Northern Territory	0	6	6
Total	165	778	943

Types of McDonald's Restaurants

6. McDonald's operates two main categories of restaurants, which are "freestander" restaurants and "food court / instore" restaurants:
 - (a) Freestander restaurants: Most of the time a freestander restaurant is located in a stand-alone building with its own car park. Freestander restaurants also usually have a McCafe, drive thru and restaurant dining area.

(b) Food Court / Instore restaurants:

- (i) Both food court and instore restaurants are typically a restaurant operated in a particular space within a larger building. Some food court and instore restaurants may have a McCafe but this is not typical.
- (ii) A “food court” restaurant is a store located in a retail environment, and which usually does not have its own restaurant dining area. Instead, it would share the dining space with other food outlets.
- (iii) An “instore” restaurant might be attached to another building, for example, in a strip of buildings (and therefore differs to a freestander restaurant as it is not a stand-alone building). An instore restaurant typically does not have a drive thru. Instore restaurants also typically do not have a car park but may have a shared customer parking space with other businesses.

(c) Other: There are some restaurants that don't fit into either of the above two categories. For example, there are some stores that are only a McCafe. There are also freestanders that are located on the same site as a petrol station.

7. As at 2 October 2015 there were 737 freestander restaurants and 207 food-court and in-store restaurants.

Hours of Operations

- 8. The 125 food- courts do not trade 24/7 and very few in-store restaurants trade 24/7. Many of these restaurants are subject to restricted hours of trade applying to the building in which they operate.
- 9. Food court trading areas are likely to be more restrictive than in-store restaurant trading hours due to the nature of their location. Typically the trading hours of a food court restaurant are determined by the shopping centre that they are within and tend to follow traditional shopping centre trading hours.
- 10. Further, the trading hours for each food court restaurant may vary depending upon the specific centre's hours of trade and applicable regulation. This may also mean that different trading hours apply to different days of the week. For instance, locations in which late night shopping is permitted through extended trading hours in the evening on certain day(s) may allow for trade to continue until 9pm. On other days, the hours of trade may close around 5pm or 6pm.
- 11. A list of some of the McDonald's food court restaurants is below with their respective trading hours.

12. As at 2 October 2015 McDonald's food court and in-store restaurants employ approximately 12,808 employees of which 9,516 are casual employees.
13. As at 2 October 2015 of the casual employees employed, 4627 are under the age of 17 and are likely to be school students. Please refer to paragraph 43.
14. A copy of a report I generated from our metime system detailing all casual employees under the age of 17 years working at either food court or in-store restaurants is attached at "KTL – 6."

Peak Periods of Operations

15. Employee shifts are varied throughout the day depending on operational requirements and the expected sales during each period. Employees are likely to work a shift that covers at least one of our peak periods, with peak periods being breakfast, lunch and dinner. Employees may work a shift that covers more than one of these peak periods if it is within their availabilities.
16. At most restaurants peak production periods are generally between the hours of:
 - (a) Breakfast : 7am – 9am
 - (b) Lunch: 12pm – 2pm
 - (c) Dinner: 530pm – 730pm
17. These hours are typically a restaurant’s busiest periods. During these busy periods restaurants require more employees to meet the customer demand.
18. If a restaurant was able to vary the current 3 hour minimum engagement they may be able to roster more employees over the restaurants busiest periods.

“metime System”

19. McDonald’s currently operates a learning and engagement computer software program known as “metime” (the “metime System”) that uses data from its company owned stores and its franchisee operated stores.
20. In the metime System, each employee (whether employed directly by McDonald’s or indirectly by a franchisee) has a profile which includes information about that individual. Some of the information is the name, date of birth, employment type (for example, “casual”, part-time”, “full time”) , and commencement date. Position type is also collected for each employee on metime, including Crew, Crew Trainer, Maintenance and Trainee Crew (within the below analysis categorised as Level 2 employees), Shift Supervisor (within the below analysis categorised as Level 3 employees), and 1st Assistant Manager, 2nd Assistant Manager and Restaurant Manager (within the below analysis categorised as Level 4 employees). Attached and marked KTL-1 is a sample employee profile in the metime System excluding employee details.
21. Some of the information in the metime System is supplied by the individual at the time that they apply for employment. Examples of information supplied at the time of applying for employment are the name and date of birth of the individual.
22. Some of the information in the metime System is entered and maintained from time to time by managers at the restaurant at which the individual works. An example of information maintained by a manager is employment type. This information is updated on an as needs basis. For example, an employee’s employment type is updated if their employment status has changed (for example, if they have changed from being “casual” to “part-time”) or if a Manager was prompted by the metime System to update an employee’s right to work details if they were nearing their expiry.
23. One of my responsibilities relates to the metime System. I am responsible for advising on changes or modifications that McDonald’s makes to the metime System that relate to recruitment, orientation and employee data.

24. I have used the metime System across a number of my roles with McDonald's. Initially I used the metime System as a Manager and Restaurant Manager at the Thornleigh restaurant where I used the system from a user perspective. As a Manager I used the system to recruit and hire new employees, as well as to maintain employee details and complete training and learning activities. I have also used the metime System in my roles at the McDonald's corporate office from an administration and development perspective. This has included developing training materials and modules and developing the recruitment process for applicants.
25. In my experience in using the metime System, most of the data contained in employee profiles in the metime System is accurate. This data is mostly accurate because it flows through to other systems and has cost and rostering implications so restaurants need to ensure that this data is maintained. For example, an employee's right to work status must be kept up to date or the rostering system used in restaurants will prevent the employee from being rostered. (I note that managers in restaurants have the ability to make changes to some details of employees' metime profiles as required.) (I also note that there are some fields in the metime System which may not be maintained as regularly as they are collected as part of the application process, but do not have an impact on any other systems. For example, a new employee provides emergency contact details at the time that they are hired, however this relies on the employee to update this field if it changes. A second example is that if a new employee is identified as an Australian citizen their proof of identity, such as passport details, are checked and recorded initially, however this will not need to be updated again. A third example is that a job applicant provides their student status at the time of making their application however is not required to update their student status.)
26. One of the aspects of the metime System is the ability to interrogate data in the metime System and prepare reports of information contained in the metime System.
27. I have accessed information in the metime System to prepare this statement. I have also printed reports from the metime System to prepare this statement.

Characteristics of people employed by McDonald's Australia Limited and its franchisees

28. As at 19 May 2015, the total number of people who were employed by McDonald's to work in restaurants was 20,759, the number of people employed by franchisees to work in restaurants was 78,152 and total number of people employed in McDonald's restaurants overall was 98,911. These numbers only include employees employed to work in restaurants and do not include corporate employees (such as employees working in the head office of McDonald's or directors of franchisees).
29. Since 31 July 2013, the McDonald's Australia Enterprise Agreement 2013 (the Agreement) has applied to all employees of McDonald's and its franchisees who work in its Australian restaurants as a Crew Member (Agreement Level 2), Shift Supervisor (Agreement Level 3), Shift or Trainee Manager (Agreement Level 4) or Manager (Agreement Level 4).
30. As at 19 May 2015, McDonald's and its franchisees employed employees in the following classifications under the Agreement:

Level 2 - Crew Member employees	Level 3 - Shift Supervisor employees	Level 4 – Shift or Trainee Manager or Manager
91,107	3,239	4,565

Males	Females
10,170	10,684
47.77%	51.23%

34. As at 3 August 2015, McDonald's franchisees employed the following numbers of males and females to work in restaurants:

Males	Females
38,372	41,865
47.82%	52.18%

35. As at 19 May 2015, McDonald's employed directly the following number of employees as casual, part-time and full-time in restaurants:

Casuals	Part-time	Full-time
15,953	3,507	1,299

36. As at 19 May 2015, McDonald's franchisees employed the following number of employees as casual, part-time and full-time to work in restaurants:

Casuals	Part-time	Full-time
59,995	12,601	5,556

37. In the tables above, and paragraphs below, I identify the numbers of employees employed in McDonald's restaurants by McDonald's and its franchisees on a casual, part-time and full-time basis. The definition of each category is taken from the McDonald's Australia Enterprise Agreement 2013 and is as follows:

- (a) Full time: A full-time employee is an employee who works an average of 38 ordinary hours a week over a 4 week cycle.
- (b) Part time: A part-time employee is an employee who works less than 36 hours per week but shall work at least 10 hours per week who has reasonably practicable hours of work.
- (c) Casual: A casual employee is an employee engaged and employed as such.

38. As at 19 May 2015, the ages of employees employed directly by McDonald's to work in its restaurants were:

Age	Casual Employees	Part-time Employees	Full-time Employees
14	1,575	4	3
15	3,623	93	3
16	3,357	228	13
17	2,593	380	16
18	1,979	531	48
19	1,149	543	81
20	600	402	109
21	311	333	128
22	201	210	90
23	120	166	104
24	103	105	106
25+	342	512	598
Total	15,953	3,507	1,299

39. As at 19 May 2015, McDonald's employed directly 8,899 employees aged 14, 15 and 16 years (see the numbers in the first three rows of the table in paragraph 38), which equated to 42.87 per cent of the total number of employees employed directly by McDonald's to work in its restaurants (calculated as 8,899 divided by the total number of employees in the table in paragraph 38).

40. As at 19 May 2015, the ages of employees of McDonald's franchisees engaged to work in restaurants were as set out below. Note that the data contained in the table set out in this paragraph, as well as the tables in paragraph 46, excludes 234 employees. For those 234 employees, the date of birth information in these employees metime profile is not accurate. I know that the information is not accurate because the date of birth for these employees is recorded in the metime System as 01/01/1900, which would mean the employee is 115 years old. It is my understanding that employees employed prior to the introduction of the metime may have this date as a default, if they have not since updated their date of birth.

Age	Casual Employees	Part-time Employees	Full-time Employees
14	4,888	53	0
15	11,713	525	9
16	11,845	1,035	42

24	629	415	371
25+	3,433	2,205	2,682
Total	59,982	12,582	5,354

41. As at 19 May 2015, McDonald’s franchisees employed 30,110 employees aged 14, 15 and 16 years (see the numbers in the first three rows of the table in paragraph 40), which equated to 38.64 per cent of the total number of employees employed by McDonald’s franchisees to work in their restaurants (calculated as 30,110 divided by the total number of employees in the table in paragraph 40).
42. In my roles at McDonald’s, I have dealt with thousands (literally) of McDonald’s employees (both employees employed directly and indirectly). In these dealings I have come to realise that most McDonald’s employees were and are at school or undertaking some kind of study. I have formed this view through my discussion with employees who raise their schooling either directly or indirectly, as well as by observation of things such as employees wearing school uniforms upon arrival at work or employees changing availabilities to fit in with studying commitments. In addition, I attended school and university for eight years whilst working at McDonald’s restaurants. During this time, many of my work colleagues were also students at the same schools and universities or other close-by education institutions.
43. In my view, it is likely that most of the 39,009 employees aged between 14, 15 and 16 years are school students who attend school on weekdays. I base this view on my review of information from the following websites:
- (a) “Leaving School Info” at <http://leavingschoolinfo.com.au>;
 - (b) NSW Government – Education Public Schools at <http://www.schools.nsw.edu.au>;
 - (c) State Government, Victoria – Department of Education and Training at <http://www.education.vic.gov.au>;

- (d) Queensland Government, Department of Education and Training at <http://education.qld.gov.au>
- (e) Government of Western Australia, Department of Education at <http://det.wa.edu.au>;
- (f) Tasmanian Government, The Department of Education Tasmania at <https://www.education.tas.gov.au>; and
- (g) Government of South Australia, Department for Education and Child Development at <http://www.decd.sa.gov.au> regarding the requirements concerning school attendance in each State. The information I reviewed from these websites indicates that the government in each State and Territory requires individuals under 17 to attend school and, if an individual under the age of 17 chooses to leave school, it is a government requirement that they have secured full time employment, education or training to do so. Seventy of the 39,009 employees aged between 14, 15 and 16 years work on a full-time basis.

- 44. Based on my observation and knowledge as set out at paragraph 43 above, many McDonald’s employees aged over 17 years are also undertaking some kind of study which may require attendance at classes at varying times during the week.
- 45. As a large employer of young people, McDonald’s understands that many employees will also be at school or undertaking some kind of study. McDonald’s aims to support employees who are at school or studying. Since 2007 McDonald’s has had a Responsible Student Policy that applies to school students who are 17 years of age or under working in either a McOpCo store or a franchisee store. The Responsible Student Policy advocates that restaurants schedule relevant employees so that they will not be required to work beyond 12am on Sunday to Thursday nights, and before 5am on Monday to Friday, during school weeks. The Responsible Student Policy also recommends that these employees should not work any more than three shifts per week. (Whilst this is a McDonald’s policy, restaurants are also subject to relevant youth employment legislation, which takes precedence). A copy of the current Responsible Student Policy is annexed and marked KTL-2.
- 46. As at 19 May 2015, the length of service of employees employed directly by McDonald’s who were casuals engaged to work in restaurants was:

48. On 4 June 2015 I directed the Payroll department of McDonald's to prepare a report regarding the number of hours worked per week for all full time, part time and casual employees employed directly by McDonald's working in restaurants for the period 4 May 2015 to 31 May 2015 inclusive. This information was retrieved from the centralised payroll system used by all

McDonald's operated restaurants. The reports from the payroll system show the hours worked by each of the employees employed at McDonald's operated restaurants in any given week. A true copy of the report is annexed and marked "KTL-3". Based on the report, the working hours were as follows:

Working Preferences of Employees

49. McDonald's currently operates a computer system known as "myRestaurant" that it uses in its company-owned restaurants and that it licences to most of its franchisees (the "myRestaurant System").
50. One aspect of the myRestaurant System is a computer portal that allows employees working at company-owned stores and employees of franchisees to record their hours of availability and preference to work. The employees may indicate their hours of availability in two ways.

51. The first way is part of the application for employment process with McDonald's. The second way is by following a process (outlined below) after employment has commenced.
52. All of the availabilities information applies to Level 2 employees only. Level 3 and 4 employees are engaged in supervisory or managerial positions so availability preferences and scheduling are managed in a different way.

First Way

53. McDonald's and most of its franchisees follow a practice for recruiting employees.
54. One part of the practice is an on-line application by the employee. A second part of the practice is an interview. A third part of the practice is a record check.
55. As part of the on-line application process, an applicant enters on a McDonald's webpage their hours of availability to work for each day of the week (if they were to be employed) and their preferred hours of work each day of the week (if they were to be employed). These hours of availability and preference are recorded in answers to standard questions.
56. The standard questions have changed over time. However, the current standard questions are annexed and marked KT-4.
57. The explanatory content relating to the availability schedule for applicants explicitly states "The minimum time period that can be selected is 3 hours."
58. One aspect of the standard questions is for the applicant to specify the number of shifts that they are available each week day period. A second aspect of the standard questions is for the applicant to specify the number of shifts that they are available for each weekend.
59. If an applicant is successful in being employed by a McDonald's restaurant, the answers to the standard questions are used by McDonalds and its franchisees to schedule employees to work (at least at the start of employment).
60. For applicants who become a casual employee, the hours of availability and preference may be changed by the employee at any time.
61. In May 2015, the majority (852 of 943) of restaurants were using the myRestaurant System to generate employee schedules.

Second Way

62. After an applicant has become an employee, the hours of availability and preference to work may be changed on an ongoing basis or on a temporary basis. Different practices are followed depending upon whether the employee is a casual employee or a full-time or part-time employee.
63. A casual employee may change his or her availability by following the process set by the restaurant. The process set by each restaurant may be slightly different but all involve an employee being able to record their change in availability which is communicated to the management of the restaurant. The process that the restaurant sets up to do this may be via email or to be recorded in a specific book in the restaurant. In my experience, if the casual employee contacts their manager, the manager will modify the availability of the employee in the myRestaurant System.

Reports from MyRestaurant System

- 64. Another aspect of the myRestaurant System is the ability of McDonald’s to interrogate the data recorded in the myRestaurant System to produce reports. One report that can be produced relates to employee preferences (or availabilities).
- 65. On 1 May 2015, I interrogated the data in the system to produce a report on the preferences of employees (the “Preferences Report”). Annexed and marked “KTL-8” is a true copy of the Preferences Report.
- 66. In my experience, managers of restaurants (operated directly and by franchisees) maintain accurate availabilities information in the myRestaurant System. Managers are required to keep the availabilities information accurate as the myRestaurant rostering system uses availabilities to create rosters. It is standard practice of managers to enter any changes to permanent or temporary availabilities in to the myRestaurant system prior to creating the weekly employee roster. This practice is also taught in the training conducted by McDonald’s for managers responsible for scheduling.
- 67. The Preferences Report relates to 73,443 of employees at 852 restaurants.
- 68. The Preferences Report shows the nominated standard availabilities of employees by each hour of each day of the week.
- 69. This Preferences Report breaks employees down by age, for each year from 14 years of age to 20 years of age, and then groups employees who are 21 years of age and over together. The Preferences Report then further breaks employees down by their employment status - casual, part-time and full-time.

Work preferences of 14 year old employees

- 70. As at May 2015, the Preferences Report shows the following preferences to work by casual employees aged 14 years (being 949 employees) :

Hour of Work	Weekday Availabilities	Weekend Availabilities
5am – 6am	1%	7%
6am – 7am	1%	21%
7am – 8am	1%	38%
8am – 9am	1%	53%
9am – 10am	1%	63%
10am – 11am	1%	68%
11am – 12pm	1%	70%

Hour of Work	Weekday Availabilities	Weekend Availabilities
12pm – 1pm	1%	72%
1pm – 2pm	1%	73%
2pm – 3pm	1%	74%
3pm – 4pm	3%	74%
4pm – 5pm	50%	75%
5pm – 6pm	72%	73%
6pm – 7pm	74%	69%
7pm – 8pm	72%	67%
8pm – 9pm	61%	58%
9pm – 10pm	37%	40%
10pm – 11pm	16%	21%

71. The “Weekday Availabilities” data in the second column of the above table has been calculated as follows:

- (a) For each hour of the day 5am to 11pm inclusive, adding together the percentage of 14 year old casual employees who were available for that hour on each of the days Monday to Friday (inclusive). The percentage is the proportion of employees of that age and status who have indicated that they are available to work during that time. This availability is taken from their standard availabilities that are entered in to the myRestaurant System. For example, as at May 2015 there were 949 employees aged 14 who were casual employees and the number of those who indicated they were available during the hours of 7am and 8am on Monday was 10, which equated to a percentage of 1.05 per cent (that is, 10 divided by 949). The percentage was then obtained in the same manner for Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. The percentages for that hour for each weekday were then added together.
- (b) Dividing the result for each hour by five, to achieve an average percentage.
- (c) The average percentage has then been rounded to the nearest whole number.

72. The “Weekend Availabilities” data in the third column of the above table has been calculated as follows:

- (a) For each hour of the day 5am to 11pm inclusive, adding together the percentage of 14 year old casual employees who were available for that hour on Saturday and Sunday. The percentage is the proportion of employees of that age and status who have indicated that they are available to work during that time. This availability is taken from their standard availabilities that are entered in to the myRestaurant System. For example, as at May 2015 there were 949 employees aged 14 who were casual employees and the number of those who indicated they were available during the hours of 7am and 8am on Saturday was 344, which equated to a percentage of 36.25 per cent (that is, 344 divided by 949). The percentage was then obtained in the same manner for Sunday. The percentages for that hour for each weekend day were then added together.

- (b) Dividing the result for each hour, by two, to achieve an average percentage.
- (c) The average percentage has then been rounded to the nearest whole number.

- 73. As at May 2015, the Preferences Report shows that the average availability of a casual employee aged 14 years during a weekday is 5.17 hours (see page Average Available Hours by Day of the Preferences Report).
- 74. As at May 2015, the Preferences Report shows that the average availability of a casual employee aged 14 years during a weekend is 11.50 hours (see page Average Available Hours by Day of the Preferences Report).

104. From the Preferences Report, the following observations can be made about employees (employed directly and indirectly), their age, their employment status and the times that they have indicated they are available to work:

Weekdays before 4pm

- (a) On weekdays before 4pm, very few (around 1 to 2 percent) 14 and 15 year olds of any status are available to work.

- (b) On weekdays before 4pm, a slightly higher number (around 2 to 13 per cent) of 16 and 17 year old employees are available to work before 4pm, although most of those employees are full-time or part-time employees.
- (c) On weekdays before 4pm, a slightly higher number again (around 14 to 27 per cent) of part-time and casual 18 year old employees are available to work before 4pm.
- (d) On weekdays before 4pm, a significant number (between 49 to 65 per cent) of part-time and casual 19, 20 and 21 year old employees are available to work before 4pm.

- (g) On weekdays between 4pm and 8pm, for the ages 18, 19 and 20 full time employees in each age bracket have the highest availability to work (between 76 per cent and 85 per cent), followed by part time employees (between 63 per cent to 66 per cent) and then casual employees (between 55 per cent to 58 per cent).
- (h) On weekdays between 4pm and 8pm, between 51 per cent to 55 per cent of employees aged 21 years and over are available to work and this remains relatively consistent amongst different employment status.

Weekdays after 8pm

- (i) On weekdays after 8pm, across all ages and employment statuses the percentage of employees that have nominated that they are available to work slowly reduces for each later hour. This difference by hour is greatest for employees aged between 14 and 17 years old and is greatest for casual employees. The difference by hour reduces significantly for each age group 18 years and above and the difference for each hour is also lower for part-time and full-time employees than it is for casual employees.
- (j) On weekdays after 8pm, the availability of employees aged 14, 15, 16 and 17 years old ranges from 61 per cent to 71 per cent.

- (o) On weekdays after 9pm, the availability of part-time and full-time employees aged 14, 15, 16 and 17 years is slightly higher than for casual employees in the same age bracket.
- (p) On weekdays after 8pm, the percentage of employees aged 18, 19 and 20 years old who are available ranges from 55 per cent to 80 per cent.
- (q) On weekdays after 8pm, the availability of part-time and full-time employees aged 18, 19 and 20 years is higher than for casual employees in the same age bracket.

- (v) On weekdays after 8pm, the availability of employees aged 21 years old and over is relatively fixed across all hours and employment statuses with very little movement between hours and statuses.

Weekends before 4pm

Weekends between 4pm and 8pm

- (y) On weekends between 4pm and 8pm, the availability of employees of all employment statuses aged 14 – 19 years is quite high (between 61 per cent and 83 per cent), with the availability of full-time and part-time employees being greater than that of casual employees in the same age group.
- (z) On weekends between 4pm and 8pm, employees aged 20 and 21 plus years more than half of the employees are available to work across all employment statuses with the exclusion of full-time employees in the 21 years old or more category.

Weekends after 8pm

- (aa) On weekends after 8pm across all ages and employment statuses the percentage of employees that have nominated that they are available to work slowly reduces for each later hour, however this reduction is smaller than it is for weekdays.

- (cc) On weekends after 8pm, the difference in availability by hour reduces significantly for each age group 18 years and above.
- (dd) On weekends after 8pm, the difference in availability for each hour is lower for part-time and full-time employees than it is for casual employees.

105. From the Preferences Report, and on average, employees of every age group are available for a greater number of hours on weekends when compared to weekdays:

Age	Weekday average hours of availability	Weekend average hours of availability
-----	---------------------------------------	---------------------------------------

Age	Weekday average hours of availability	Weekend average hours of availability
14	5.17	11.50
15	5.36	11.87
16	5.73	12.26
17	6.57	12.68
18	10.18	13.96
19	13.54	15.59
20	14.23	16.18
21+	14.18	16.08

Rosters

106. Rosters for Level 2 employees are completed on a weekly basis from Monday to Sunday. The frequency of the rostering is automatically set up in the restaurant rostering system and cannot be altered. One week of employee rosters will be prepared at a time and must be communicated to employees at least five days in advance of the first day of that roster. I note that there may be special circumstances which require a restaurant to complete more than one week of rosters at a time, for example over a particular holiday period. Completing rosters one week at a time allows employees to regularly enter temporary changes to their availability. Rosters for Level 3 and 4 employees may be completed on a monthly or 6 weekly basis. This is because these employees are in a supervisory or managerial position in the restaurant so rosters need to be well planned out.

Career vs. Non-career workers

107. In my experience, McDonald's employees (employed both directly and indirectly) can be categorised as career employees or non-career employees. In my experience, career employees are employees who intend to be with McDonald's for a number of years. Non-career employees are employees who are not intending to stay with McDonald's for a significant period of time.

108. In my view, the following types of employees can be categorised as career employees:

- (a) Full-time Crew Members (Level 2 under the Agreement);
- (b) Shift Supervisors (Level 3 under the Agreement); and
- (c) Shift Managers, Trainee Managers and Managers (Level 4 under the Agreement).

As at May 2015, McDonald's employed directly and indirectly 3,239 Level 3 employees and 4,565 Level 4 employees.

109. In my experience, career employees are also likely to have completed some additional training through McDonald's. Since 1997, McDonald's has been a Registered Training Organisation (RTO) and facilitates some of its employees undertaking training and obtaining qualifications. Depending on their classification level, such qualifications may include:

- (a) Certificate II in Retail Services;
- (b) Certificate III in Retail Operations;
- (c) Certificate IV in Frontline Management;

- (d) Diploma of Management; and/or
- (e) Advanced Diploma of Management

110. In the capacity of an RTO McDonald's issued the following qualifications in 2013 and 2014:

QUALIFICATION	2013	2014	TOTALS
20207 Certificate II in Retail	1002	0	1002
20212 Certificate II in Retail Services	91	813	904

111. In my view, casual Crew Members can be classified as non-career employees.
112. In my experience, most casual Crew Members are at school or studying in some way. In my experience, most casual Crew Members are generally available to work evenings during the week and the days and evenings on weekends, as they balance work with study. Many of these Crew Members will be unavailable to work for a particular night of the week and/or parts of the weekend as they fit work around their sporting or other extra-curricula activities.
113. In my experience, most Crew Members tend to be younger than our career employees. As at 19 May 2015, 57,641 of the 91,107 Level 2 employees (representing 63 per cent of all employees) were aged between 14 and 18 years.
114. Whilst many of McDonalds' employees stay past the age of 18, especially employees enrolled at and studying at university, many over this age are moving into management positions or full-time roles. By way of explanation, McDonald's does not permit an employee to be rostered as a shift manager by themselves (that is, without supervision by another manager) until they are 18 years of age. As a result, all Level 4 employees employed by McDonald's (and most Level 3 employees) are over 18 years of age. Paragraphs 46 and 47 (above) also demonstrate that the proportion of part-time and full-time employees rises for employees aged over 18 years. For example, as at 19 May 2015 13.25 per cent of McOpCo employees aged 17 years old were either part-time or full time (calculated as 380 part time employees plus 16 full time employees, divided by 2989 being the total number of 17 year old McOpCo employees), compared to 76.45 per cent of employees in the 25 years plus age group who were either part-time or full-time (calculated as 512 part time employees plus 598 full time employees, divided by 1452 being the total number of McOpCo employees 25 years or older). For employees of McDonald's franchisees, 13.92 per cent of employees aged 17 years old were either part-time or full time (calculated as 1,444 part time employees plus 86 full time employees, divided by 10,995 being the total number of 17 year old employees employed by franchisees), compared to 58.74 per cent of employees in the 25 years plus age who were either part-time or full – time (calculated as 2,205 part time employees plus 2,682 full time employees, divided by 8.320 being the total number of employees in the 25 years plus age group).

115. A majority of non-career employees are Level 2 employees. However we do have several categories of career employees who fall within the classification of Level 2 Crew, primarily maintenance employees, along with working mothers who have returned to the workforce. As noted above, these employees tend to be permanent employees (full-time or part-time) and tend to be engaged to work at times where we are unable to engage our student employees, during the day or on the overnight shift during the week.
116. McDonald's is primarily a casualised workforce despite recent efforts to increase the level of part-time employment. Casual employees are generally non career employees, with career employees being full-time employees.
117. The majority of our non career employees would have on average between 0 and 5 years in the business. Our average new hire is 14 to 15 years old and generally those employees who are not intending on pursuing a career with McDonald's would be looking to move on at around age 19 or 20 or when they conclude any study that they are doing to move in to full-time work in their area of study.

Complaints about weekend and evening work

118. There are a number of ways that restaurant employees can make complaints. These include, raising concerns with the management team at the restaurant or Licensee, or via contacting the Human Resources Department or by raising concerns via the PAL (Personal Action Letter) program available to all employees on metime (the PAL System). The PAL System is a way for employees to contact the Human Resources Team directly without the employee's manager or anyone else knowing, regarding concerns that they have. These methods are communicated to employees as part of their orientation when they begin employment with McDonald's.
119. The PAL System has been electronic and available to employees online via metime since August 2014. This allows McDonald's to better maintain records of PAL's received. Since the PAL System has been online I am not aware of complaints about weekend or evening work being made as employees are able to set their own availabilities when they apply to work at McDonald's and to make adjustments to these availabilities once employed. Through the online PAL System I am aware of complaints being made regarding employees being rostered against their availabilities. As part of the Human Resources Department I work through these complaints with the employee and restaurants involved to resolve them.

RESPONSIBLE STUDENT POLICY

Policy Statement

McDonald's is a major employer of young people. Many of our employees gain their first job experience in our restaurants at the same time as undertaking full-time studies.

Our Responsible Student Policy, as amended from time to time, aims at ensuring McDonald's maintains its position as a leading employer and provides a work environment that supports the academic commitments of young people.

While McDonald's work experience can be a valuable way to commence pursuit of career opportunities, McDonald's also recognises that that the number one priority for young people is completing their school education. This policy is designed to achieve good balance between study and employment.

Purpose

The purpose of this policy is to clearly outline the way in which our employees, who are still at school and 17 years of age and under, work for McDonald's in a mutually beneficial way.

Application

This policy applies:

- to employees who are full-time secondary students who are 17 years of age or under;
- during school weeks. In non-school weeks employees may be rostered at other times to suit restaurant operational requirements and employee availability; and
- only to secondary students. Those studying at a tertiary level are excluded from the requirements of this policy (e.g. where a student is lawfully not required to attend secondary schooling and has pursued alternative tertiary studies).

To the extent of any inconsistency, legislation regulating youth employment shall prevail over this Responsible Student Policy.

Scheduling

McDonald's strongly advocates that restaurants schedule relevant employees so that they will not be required to work:

- Beyond 12:00am on Sunday to Thursday nights; and
- Before 5.00am on Monday to Friday.

It is also recommended that during school terms, relevant employees should not work any more than three (3) shifts per week. These requirements are subject to relevant youth employment legislation, which takes precedence.

Availability

Additionally, employee availabilities should be taken into account when preparing rosters.

- Part-time employees may update their availabilities by agreement with their management team;
- Casual employees should provide updated availabilities to their management team from time to time, following consultation with their parent/guardian and in line with their restaurant's established non-availability system. This also provides an appropriate mechanism for Crew to request more or less shifts depending upon their unique needs.

For all students our flexible rostering system accommodates examination periods and other important school and extracurricular activities.

When can you work?

Availability Schedule

In this step, you can let us know when you would like to work. Please indicate all the days and times that it is possible for you to work. We won't be asking you to work for all the days and times you specify. However, the more days and times you can give us, the easier it will be to give you a suitable shift.

If you are a student that is 17 or younger, then please read our Responsible Student Policy before completing this step.

Click the "+ add" link next to the day you would like to work and then select the times from the pop up window. The minimum time period that can be selected is 3 hours.

If you wish, you can add a second availability time for the same day (for example after school or college). To do this, click the "+ add" link in the right column and then select the times you can work. Don't worry, you won't be asked to work more than one shift per day! However, it will help us find a shift that meets your requirements at your chosen restaurants.

If you make a mistake, click the edit link to change your availability times.
